Spain: A Spiritually Enriching Retreat

From October 23 to 25, FFWPU Spain hosted a spiritually enriching retreat entitled "Knowing God through the Divine Principle" at La Romanillosa, situated just outside of Barcelona. The three-day gathering provided a dedicated space for attendees to connect deeply with their faith and with one another in a vibrant, supportive setting.

The event brought together a diverse group of 18 adults and five children, fostering a warm, family-friendly environment. The sense of community was further highlighted by the attendance of several second-generation young people, alongside five first-time guests who experienced the teachings of the Divine Principle for the very first time.

To ensure the material was both engaging and accessible for all ages, the retreat's organizers balanced traditional lectures with interactive activities and shared recreation. This dynamic approach allowed participants to explore the Divine Principle actively, creating natural opportunities to build lasting relationships, strengthen their personal faith, and deepen their understanding of God's heart.

As the weekend drew to a close, attendees departed with a renewed sense of purpose. Participants were encouraged to take the insights, communal warmth, and spiritual growth cultivated at La Romanillosa and translate them into their daily lives, actively sharing these experiences with the wider Spanish community.
