

Recognizing people who help out

Simon Cooper
March 21, 2014

At our annual general meeting last Sunday we finished with saying thank you:

This year we asked each ministry leader to nominate a volunteer who they work with to be recognized and to buy them a present. At our last church council meeting we just felt there are so many unsung heroes in our community and since we stopped doing 'volunteer of the month' some time back, it's important to find new ways to recognize the contribution so many people make.

Here are some of the pictures of people who we wanted to say thank you to, receiving a gift from the staff members they work with:

Ajay thanking Diana for helping with Sunday school

Chris thanking George for his consistency and commitment as the band's pianist

Reiko San thanking Anne for her service and initiative for taking care of so much of the washing up after lunch every week