Farewell to a Much Loved Sister, Kathrin Ladstätter

Kathrin Ladstätter, who was an underground missionary in the Soviet Union together with her husband, Peter, ascended on 19 September at the age of 65. Following are excerpts from the tribute that was read at her Seonghwa in Vienna on 24 September by her youngest child, Vera.

At the beginning of 1991, Kathrin and Daniel joined Peter in Moscow. As our movement began to work openly in Russia, Kathrin supported its activities, in addition to caring for her expanding family. After four more children—Natalia, Michael, Andi and Vera—the family returned in 2003 to Vienna, where Kathrin was involved in WFWP and helped at children's and HARP workshops. She later became a Second Generation matching supporter, showing much love and empathy.

In February of this year, Kathrin was hospitalised due to a mild stroke, and after further tests, in April it was discovered that she had bladder cancer, which already had spread. Kathrin took up the fight, completing four chemo cycles. She always kept a realistic view and positive thoughts. She was especially motivated by the birth of her first grandchild, a boy.

Despite all her efforts and the strength with which she went through life, her health deteriorated very badly in September. After a few days in the hospital, she was transferred to the palliative ward, and doctors confirmed that nothing more could be done for her. Peter cared for his wife devotedly during her illness and was there for her unconditionally. They were supported on their last journey by their children, who were with her every day in the hospital.

Kathrin's Seonghwa was attended by 130 people, with many others following the ceremony online, especially brothers and sisters in Russia. The testimonies spoke of Kathrin's devoted love not only for her own family but also for all the brothers and sisters around her. – the Ladstätter family
