Shinjoon Nim's Tearful Testimony

Hello,

Last Sunday's events in Chung Pyung, Tennessee were so packed with meaning, I could write a book about that day! It started with 2nd King's heartfelt Midnight prayer, which included the following words, followed by the writing of the motto for the 14th year of Cheongi:

"I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude and appreciation to You for reestablishing the Four-Position Foundation and for physically and spiritually carrying out and realizing the purpose of creation.

Father, You gained all the victories! The world is now in an age of turmoil and judgment; however, Father, You have already won the victory and You have accomplished this:

- *Cheon Il Guk was established.
- *Your bloodline was established.
- *Your lineage was established
- *Your Kingship was established.
- *Your sons did not disobey.
- * I have found my Mother again.
- *The number of restored blessed families who call people and visit them is increasing day by day.

Thank You, Father; thank You very much.

You are victorious! You are victorious!

You are victorious!

Today is True God's Day; it is Your day, Father!

Victorious Gratitude to True Father in the era of Tribulation

Shinjoon Nim's Tearful Testimony

Thank you for allowing me to [give] my testimony today, on God's Day. It truly is an honor to be able to speak today.

When I saw the mission that True Father wanted me to follow, I felt so unworthy. Although God does 95%, as my 5%... (tears) Am I the central figure, that bears the responsibility to bring God's Kingdom, the Kingdom that has been waited for 6,000 years of Biblical history?

How can I ever stand worthy to stand as the symbolic representation of Christ on earth? As I look through the corridors of history, I see great Christians, heroes of faith, men like Spurgeon, Hall and Wilberforce. Why didn't God choose them as the Central Figure?

This guy, I don't think you got the right guy... I make the sandwiches at the local Dunkin Donuts! I look within myself, I see a broken man. Can God truly use a man like me?

Then I realized, when a great Christian said this: oftentimes God calls the most broken and unworthy men into His Providence. Why?

For when the battle is won and the victory is obtained, everyone knows that they didn't win the battle because of that man; it was God who won the battle! (Applause)

And then I read in 2 Corinthians:

"That His grace was sufficient for me and that His power was made perfect in my own weakness." (tears)
After I realizing this, the end of the "Blessing and Glory" made so much sense! "I am unworthy! I am broken! I am unqualified!" But my prayer is that God will use this imperfect man for His perfect will.

God doesn't call the qualified; He qualifies the called. My prayer is that He will shape and mold this man like clay into whatever vessel He desires for His will.

But sometimes the road ahead looks so hopeless. We were so close for the Kingdom to come, but, as you know, due to the cosmic fall of the Han mother we lost the entire foundation that True Father strived for, bled for and died for. My prayer is that in these times of doubt, uncertainty and grief, I can truly cling onto to what True Father said and his promise that he made on October 15, 1999, "if the Han mother does not fulfill her responsibility, then I will raise up a mountain again." I pray that I can truly trust in the Lord with all my heart and not lean upon my own understanding, but acknowledge Him in all my ways. (tears)

As I see the road taken by the 2nd King, I truly am amazed. Here is a man who lived the scripture, "what does it profit a man to gain the whole world, but lose his soul? But why would he and countless other Christians walk the suffering course? [Of] all the hate, mockery and martyrdom. Why should I want to walk such a course? Why should I not just pursue a life of comfort and pleasure?

I realized that in my own life, it is because Christ has requested that I walk such a course. How could I ever deny such a request? (tears) That would be to deny the one who gave me life and deny the one who was crucified for me while I was his enemy, and to deny the one who gave me spiritual and physical salvation by walking the trail of tears! [It would be to] forget his tender mercies, his kindness, his goodness, his love, his faithfulness, his grace. For that I would refuse his request to serve Him for a short 70-80 years of earthly existence? The audacity of a man who could reject such a request! (tears)

I know I still have a lot to learn and I am inadequate in many respects, but I sincerely wish that I, as a moon, could solely exist to reflect the radiance of the Son of God. That is why in the words of the "Pledge" holy song, "though the path is narrow and steep. Cruel thorns leave a trail of blood. Still I pledge I will follow the way. Follow as far as my Father will lead." Thank you very much.
