Important information regarding the PMC (Parents Matching Convocation) in 2019

Dear Blessed Families,

After evaluating the Parents Matching Convocation last year, we decided to drop the PMC this year and instead combine this workshop with the Blessing Preparation workshop. We have found that workshops, where both candidates and their parents participate together, have been more successful, and the family can then begin preparing for matching and blessing with a common understanding.

We would therefore like to invite the parents to attend the upcoming Blessing Preparation workshop which will take place 28th – 31st March in Camberg, Germany. At this workshop we will have some common sessions for both parents and candidates, which will offer a deeper understanding of the blessing and matching process. We will also have sessions where we will split into two groups – candidates and parents. In the parent group we will give a deeper explanation of the role of parents in the matching process, and an opportunity for sharing and discussion on a personal level together with matching supporters.

During the Blessing WS we will have time for parents to share and discuss matching profiles together with matching supporters.

In addition to attending this workshop, we also plan to begin holding regular webinars for parents, in order to give basic education and support in matching their children.

If you have any further questions regarding the PMC feel free to get in touch with Jane Toreson at janetoresen.bfd@gmail.com.
