

>> The Unification Principle <<
How peace and humaneness can be realized

UPF Seminar in Bonn, April 26, 2014

Thanks to the encouraging support of our young Japanese missionaries Takae, Hitomi and Miki the week of preparation for the seminar became already a special experience for the members of the Bonn community. In mostly sunny weather we conducted book tables in Bad Godesberg and Bonn and contacted numerous people from many nations and from all ages. It was a beautiful experience to see that a great number of people showed real interest in the UPF information material and the topic of the seminar. Several of those people we could welcome as our guests on the weekend.

The topic of the first lecture "Are human beings suited for peace?" obviously moved the hearts and minds of the audience and formed the prelude to an event that surpassed all expectations of the organizers, the speaker and the participants:

- The number of guests and members attending was larger than at any previous seminar.
- Our speaker of the day, Dr. Dieter Schmidt, shared many insights and deep personal experiences and had a very inspiring give and take with the participants.
- One guest who listened to the Unification Principle for the first time took more than 20 pages notes. This is just one proof of the attentiveness of the audience.

There was an atmosphere in which one could feel something of the "Revolution of the Heart", which Dieter Schmidt focused on in his final lecture. UPF presented also its relevant publications and invited for a study group on The Unification Principle.
