Horizon Summit Capacity Building Sessions

1. Women Brokering Peace with Protocol, Professionalism, and Power: How female leaders engage to build partnerships and coalitions through “working” the room” and then rocking the globe. What’s required when one goes from local/regional leader to international game changer. This workshop will help give women the tools to develop their public presentations. They will also learn how to navigate, form partnerships with protocol, professionalism, power and diplomacy.

Ambassador Suzan Johnson Cook: An Educator, Success Strategist, International Influencer, Business Owner, Communications Expert, Diplomat and Faith Leader, Hon. Suzan Johnson Cook was the first female and African-American to hold the position of U.S. Ambassador for International Religious Freedom.

2. Advocacy training on gap analysis, stakeholder analysis, developing an action plan, developing compelling messaging/ "SMART" recommendations, and maintaining coordination across your "coalition."

Margaret Williams is an international affairs and development professional, with experience in peace and security, state-society relations, youth, peace and security, women's empowerment and education. At present, she is the Senior Peace and Security Officer at the World Federation of United Nations Associations in New York.

3. "What works": Three strategies that have achieved results in refugee camps in Afghanistan, from a community based approach, broad-based education, and cultural education.

Dr. Sakena Yacoobi is the CEO of the Afghan Institute of Learning (AIL).

4. "Mindful Social Action"- This session will focus on cultivating the state of mind needed for a nonviolent, non-judgmental, inclusive and meaningful social action. The workshop will include a short presentation and few exercises based on practices of listening from the heart and speaking from the heart, not knowing, bearing witness and compassionate healing.

Iris Dotan Katz: A senior clinical & organizational psychologist. She recently submitted her PHD dissertation dealing with the issue of Peace Making and Reconciliation from a Psychological and Buddhist point of view.

5. Looking at "the Korea Nuclear Question" through the Prism of Conflict Analysis and Transformation.

Thomas J. Ward: Vice President, University of Bridgeport, Connecticut

6. Discovering the Leader Within: WFWP USA President and Vice President will present on how you can make a dynamic change to the world around you by becoming Leaders of the Heart--starting first with "me." We will discuss qualities of peace leadership, delve into our own personal capacity to become leaders, and discover where and how you can start to make a difference. This session will feature several interactive activities and discussions.

Angelika Selle: President, WFWP USA

Katarina Connery: Vice President, WFWP USA

"Rising Side by Side"

Saturday, March 17 and
Sunday, March 18, 2018

4 West 43rd St. New York, NY 10036

Join Prof. Yeon Ah Moon, President of WFWPI, and women leaders from around the world for an interactive weekend in New York. The first day of the event, March 17, will consist of the opening plenary, presentation of the Global Women's Peace Award, lunch, and capacity building sessions. The capacity building sessions will convey skills, strategies, and insights related to peace leadership that participants can use in their personal and professional lives.

Themes confirmed for capacity building sessions include advocacy, reconciliation, peace studies, education and training, and peace leadership. Capacity building sessions will be offered at two times in the afternoon and participants will have the opportunity to choose between a variety of topics. A memo will be sent soon concerning the topics and speakers for confirmed sessions.

On Sunday, March 18, participants will have the opportunity to choose from one of four tours during the day. Tour options include: (1) The FDR Presidential Library and Val Kill National Historic Site in Hyde Park, New York; (2) East Garden in Tarrytown, New York; (3) the National September 11 Memorial and Museum, in downtown Manhattan; (4) and the Metropolitan Museum of Art near Central Park. Prices vary according to tour. Dinner and the closing program will take place in the evening at 4 West 43rd St.

Please note that the cost of tours, accommodations, and meals not included in the program are the responsibility of each participant
