Economics is a vast and broad area affecting almost every area of human life. From figuring out what to have for dinner, to housing, to International trade relations and governmental policies, it has a huge impact on the world that we live in. We are looking for YOUR input and ideas. In this session, we will be opening up the floor to everyone to get your ideas on what you think are the important areas of economics that we need to focus on as an organization dedicated to creating a peaceful world. Each participant will get up to 3 minutes to share their thoughts on a 1st come basis in a moderated discussion. Please join us in this working session to help set the agenda and direction of our organization for the coming years.
