Our guest speaker this week is Tom McDevitt.

Tom currently serves as Chairman of The Washington Times, a position he has held since 2012. In August of 2019, Tom was also appointed by True Mother as Chairman of the HJ Magnolia Global Foundation, the new holding company that includes 13 firms in Korea, 28 in Japan and 5 in America. These companies were established by True Parents in the past decades. During World Summit 2020, Tom was responsible to organize and direct two of the summits major conferences, IADB and IMAP as well as coordinated the media coverage of the World Summit. Tom continues to provide strategic development support to UPF

International.

We asked Tom to visit with us this coming Tuesday on our NHFC mid-week online gathering. Here's what he wanted to share in advance:

Dear Jim and cherished friends,

If you don't mind, I'd like to share some thoughts on the things that have my attention these days. Here are a few thought-starters:

- How to move forward "mastering the true lifestyle" in our daily lives with a clear eye on the next seven years.
- Taking advantage of the providential resources that are now available
- The silver lining in this stay-at-home period is significant if we can align our mindset and actions with God's point of view and focus on enriching the relationships that matter most.
- The importance of life-long learning and designing your future
- Building your own knowledge base with TP/TM's essential wisdom at the core
- Preparing now for the post COVID 19 environment

I surely do not have all the answers, but would be happy to lead a discussion on the above topics or any others your folks may have.

Thanks for the opportunity to have some deep dialogue with this wonderful family of saints, sages and patriots.
