

WFWP Scotland holds monthly coffee morning and Origami workshop

Keiko Fraser-Harris
April 12, 2015

WFWP Scotland held our monthly coffee morning on 31st March at Augustine United Church from 11 am to 1 pm. We decided to show a 30-minute documentary film, "Faith and I".

This film was made by Nur Sakina Kader, the youth project manager at Edinburgh Interfaith Association. The film's premiere was in December. It is an educational film for school children. It follows the daily life of 3 Scottish teenage girls, a Sikh, a Muslim and a Jew. Some school teachers would like to show it to students during the religious education class. Sakina was very happy to come. After the film, people were happy to ask many questions. A casual talk continued with drinks and snacks.

WFWP Scotland was asked to do an Origami workshop at Kulture Klub's launch event. It took place on 14th March 2015 from 2 pm to 6 pm at Strathbrock community centre, Broxburn.

Four of us from WFWP Scotland participated in this.

In the main hall of the community centre there were various stalls; homemade sweets, oriental dresses, accessories, Indian food, etc. Kulture Klub is organised by several young women who want to help youth through activities. There were performances of Indian drums and a lively Indian dance by a young couple; a group of young men played Scottish music with the bagpipes. The local MSP and councillor were there to talk to people. The event was open entry. Approximately 70 people participated. They will organise a summer school for children during the months of July and August. We will be asked to help them again.

