"Religious freedom for everyone, everywhere, all the time," was the clarion call heard at the Third International Religious Freedom Summit 2023. Freedom of religion or belief is not just an optional extra, or nice to have; it is the key human right. It allows everyone to follow their conscience in the way they see fit.

However, even today, denial of freedom of religion or belief is one of the most widespread human rights abuses in the world. According to the Pew Research Foundation, about 75% of the world's roughly 8 billion people live in countries with high levels of government restrictions on freedom of religion or belief or where they face high-level hostility due to their religious affiliations.

In his book, "Integral Society, Social Institutions and Individual Sovereignty," Dr. Gordon Anderson shares with us the evolving nature of religious and media institutions and their role in individuals attaining personal sovereignty in order to pursue life, liberty, and happiness in a sustainable world. Mr. Alan Wilding from the Canadian Highlands, joins us to discuss religious freedom in Canada, in the context of his lifelong journey as a missionary, publisher, and grandparent.
