

Visit of Rev An

Lisbon, Portugal, 30. November – 5. December 2016

By Sergio Neto

It was with great joy and great blessing that we were able to receive and have in Portugal for at least five days our FFWPU International Vice President, Rev. An.

Arriving on November 30 and staying until December 5, leaving our country early in the morning the next day, it was certainly a deep experience of inspiration and enlightenment for all the members who could be with him and listen to content, that we could feel came directly from True Parents, centered on the love, care and concern of our dear and beloved True Mother.

Given that the 1st of November is a holiday in Portugal, some of the leaders with responsibilities could have lunch and confraternize with him at our Embassy of Peace and feel his big affection for our nation.

On Sunday, we had the privilege of listening to a sermon with a very complete and enriching message centered on an approach that gave us a very intense understanding of the value and importance of the filial piety.

Through the biblical history of the prodigal son and through the explaining of the difficulties from the mission of True Father and the True Parents, their difficult relationship with Christianity, the importance of the Blessed Families aligned with their principal teachings, the fundamental importance of the relationship between parents and children, also leading to an important understanding of what is happening to the situation with their own True Children, and what should be our attitude in this very special and decisive age of hope, albeit still in the midst of much confusion.

Our immense sense of gratitude to our elder brother who brought us the huge heart of True Love from True Parents, from True Mother to Portugal.
