On Sunday 13th I went to Hyde Park Corner to see William giving lectures. He has been doing it for many years. When I arrived there was a small group of people listening intently to what he had to say. As seen here.

He spoke with confidence and clarity and people listened for a long time, sometimes asking questions.

The young man was very interested and moved by the things William was saying about the Father son relationship. Later I talked to him for a long time. He was someone deeply seeking for truth.

Later on another young man came along and we talked with him for a long time. He was an agnostic but was seriously looking for meaning in life.

I met a Christian man from Romania and we talked for a long time also.

There are lots of people talking about God, the Bible, The Koran, and political issues too. You can see the crowd in the background.

We didn't leave till after 10.00pm and there were still lots of people there.

It is good to see that people are looking for the answers to life's questions.

The moon through the trees that evening.
