October 2, 2024

Over 30 people gathered at Livingstone House last weekend to engage in a music workshop on the topic of 'Connecting with the Divine Within'.

The workshop was led by Matt D., a professional musician, educator and composer with many years experience. Participants got to take part in many creative activities such as improv acting and singing, visualisation and conducting. It was a great combination of fun and learning making it a great and open creative environment. It was a great chance for people to connect with musical exploration with God at centre and many left inspired and moved.
