WithU, a new web magazine where readers can discover a wide range of news and stories from FFWPU in one place, will officially launch on August 29.

WithU is an online web magazine featuring a broad range of content, including news from FFWPU communities around the world, words and teachings, interviews, columns, Hyojeong stories, and media content. It aims to deliver stories from local communities and members more quickly and broadly, while serving as a space where people can share one another's activities, experiences, and everyday lives.

In particular, WithU will make it possible to deliver news more promptly through the web, expanding beyond the weekly and monthly print publications and periodicals traditionally used to share such content. Alongside timely coverage of major events and developments from FFWPU communities around the world, the magazine will also feature in-depth interviews and columns, combining useful information with engaging stories in an accessible web-magazine format.

The name WithU carries the meaning "With You," and its motto is, "We stay by your side and share your story." The magazine aims to highlight the stories of members who are making a difference in their own communities and daily lives, while sharing the values and meaning found within those experiences.

Its content will be organized into a variety of categories reflecting the character of each story. These will include World News, delivering key developments from communities around the globe; interviews that explore people's lives and voices in greater depth; columns that look at the world through our own perspectives and voices; and HJ STORY, which records moments of Hyojeong expressed through everyday life.

WithU will also be available in three languages: Korean, Japanese, and English. By increasing accessibility across language barriers, the magazine will enable FFWPU members around the world to encounter and share the same news and stories, with the goal of becoming a media platform that brings the global community closer together.

Following its August 29 launch, WithU plans to actively gather feedback and suggestions from users. Based on this input, it will continue expanding the range of content while gradually introducing new features designed to improve accessibility and convenience.

Connecting communities and people around the world with the stories we share, the new web magazine WithU will officially make its debut on August 29.
