The May 28th IAACP panelists (Flyer attached) have had collaborative experiences with artists from cultures other than their own. In these cross-culture endeavors they have come to appreciate the artistic expressions of their collaborators, and in some cases have incorporated the artistic styles and characteristics of their collaborators in their own work. This demonstrates the power of the arts, whether it be music, poetry or dance, to build bridges and thus assist in a greater appreciation of cultural expressions that might otherwise not be possible.

Below is the Zoom registration link. Anyone wishing to attend the webinar can easily register on the day of the event.
