The Panzer-Fefferman Debate

January 21 at 7:23am · 🌐

* Welcome to Panzer-Fefferman Debate! ****

(Overview)

Timing: The debate will take place on Saturday, January 30, starting at 1 p.m., EST. The debaters (Richard Panzer, Dan Fefferman) and moderator (Stephen Henkin) will use this column. There is no exact end time; it depends on the ebb and flow of the discussion. Visitors will be able to post on this page only after the debate concludes. Visitors may also use that column to comment on posts by other visitors.

The Topics: Both Dan Fefferman and Richard Panzer were each given the identical 13 possible topics to prepare for the debate. They were also told that seven of the topics provided would actually be used in the debate. Neither of the debaters will know what the final seven topics are until the time of the debate.

Debate Format: Both of the debaters will give an opening statement on each topic, including an explanation of what their position is on the topic and why; followed by the debaters having an exchange with each other, such as refuting what the other has said while strengthening their own position; at the end of which they will both give a closing statement, a last chance to refute what their opponent has said while summarizing why they think their argument is correct. Who gives the opening statement first in the debate will be decided by a coin toss. Whoever gives the opening statement also begins the exchange phase along with giving their closing statement first. But this will rotate completely between the debaters with each topic.

Ground Rules: The two debaters will be respectful of one another and no obscenities, threats, or ad hominem attacks will be permitted. The moderator (Stephen Henkin) reserves the right to censure a debater if they conduct themselves inappropriately following a warning. The moderator also reserves the right to move a topic along or end one if things get bogged down or if arguments get redundant. A reasonable amount of time will be given to cover each topic; there will be no strict time limit for each portion of each topic, but for planning purposes both debaters have been informed that they will have at least 10 minutes for their opening statements; 20 minutes for the exchange portion of the debate; and 10 more minutes for each debater to present their closing debate. This means that each debater should have at least 30 minutes to present their position on each of the seven topics. The debate audience will be free to leave their comments and respond to others on the web site immediately following the debate.

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate Yes, Mother was supposed to represent Father after his ascension to the spirit world, but tragically instead of lifting up Father as his object she seeks to declare her own "sinless birth," her own glorious "Han lineage," etc. Mother's victory only comes from her unity with her subject, but she says that it would be an insult to have been educated by Father: Nobody educated me. God's only begotten son and God's only begotten daughter are equal. You cannot say that God's only begotten son educated God's only begotten daughter. Do you understand what I am saying?" The Panzer-Fefferman Debate Dan Fefferman responds...Father made it clear that the TC are to succeed TP's only AFTER True Parents themselves ascend. "Who is going to be [my] successor?" people ask. But I tell them there is no need to worry because Mrs. Moon, our True Mother, is only 47 years old! And AFTER US there are the true children to carry on God's Providence." – Dan Fefferman

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate Dan Fefferman... Richard you completely misunderstand TM's heart when she made the comment that "nobody educated me" [not that she learned nothing from TF.] This quote from TF makes it clear... he says directly that he did NOT educate her about her role as TM. That she had to figure it out for herself "I never said to Mother, "You must understand this, persevere and win because I am doing this on purpose." If I had explained and comforted in that way, then even though she had won, it would not have been valuable. Mother had to figure it out herself, persevere in her own understanding, in her own right."

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate RP: Dan, what is Mother's heart when she says "You cannot say that God's only begotten son educated God's only begotten daughter."? Why does she think we "cannot say"? This statement makes it clear that Mother thinks it would be an INSULT to have been educated by Father. Strange appreciation for the man who died 7 times for her and all of us.

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate RP: Dan and the FFWPU think that if they repeat the mantra "True Parents are One" we won't notice the things that Mother HERSELF is saying. And Dan has not responded to the things that Mrs. Eu is saying as she goes around the country. Watch the videos! Mrs. Eu herself makes it CLEAR that Mother was not united with Father. I am not happy to say this. In fact I hate saying this, but if brothers and sisters look at these things and PRAY about it, they will know what is true.

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate Her heart, as I understand it, is exactly what Father said: "If I had explained and comforted in that way, then even though she had won, it would not have been valuable. Mother had to figure it out herself, persevere in her own understanding, in her own right." She is standing in her own right and it IS an insult for people to denigrate her and say that Father educated her on these points when he himself declared her to be victorious in her own right, without his teaching her.

To conclude, TM is Father's representative today... not really his successor, because they, as TP, are still with us. Just as HgJn stated: she is top decision maker after TF, and there should be NO CONFUSION about this. – DF

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate MOD: REMINDER: We will take a 15-minute break after section 4. 😊

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate DF: yes. TM holds the title of God's Only Begotten Daughter. This is a title that True Father himself coined. You can find it in first chapter the original edition of the CSG where he says that "When the only begotten son comes, it would be a disaster if he were to live alone. There has to be an only begotten daughter."

TM has said that the change of blood lineage occurred in her mother's womb. I had not heard that before she said so recently. It's something I have to consider. After all to be "reborn" one needs a person in the position of the Holy Spirit and True Mother cannot give rebirth to herself. Given that TF has spoken at length about the special conditions of TM's birth [I will speak of this below], it's definitely possible that she was indeed born sinless.

Is she the Messiah? Well, not the unique only messiah, but Father has said the messiah is a couple, not just a man alone. So yes, she's the messiah in that sense.

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate RP: Actually, there is one point of agreement that Dan and I have. Both of us agree that Father did use the term, "Only Begotten Daughter" to refer to Mother.

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate Where I have a disagreement is Mother's use of that term to proclaim her own "glorious Han race" and that she was born sinless whereas Father was only "restored" when he met Jesus.

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate RP: Father made it clear that in order for restoration to take place, a woman of fallen lineage had to be his bride: "Mother came from the lineage of the fallen archangel. To do this I had to go forward with Absolute Faith, Absolute Love and Absolute Obedience. Therefore I came this far with that kind of belief and faith. Since she came from the fallen lineage I had to go completely the opposite way of the universe. I had to deny everything."

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate DF- Richard, you continue to ascribe arrogance to TM when it's really not there. True Father himself explained the conditions that were accomplished in her lineage: "There had been seven generations of only sons born in True Mother's maternal lineage. Grandmother Cho, Soon-ae Hong, and True Mother (Hak Ja Han) were then born as only daughters in each subsequent generation, establishing the foundation for the bride." <http://www.tparents.org/.../SunM.../SunMyungMoon-Life-25.htm>

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate RP: Dan, if you read "Peace Loving Global Citizen" Father makes it VERY CLEAR how much he wanted to keep his first marriage with Seon Gil Chol. I do not believe that she was predestined to fall, so Mother's claim to have been born sinless makes no sense. "I acceded to the demands of her family and placed my stamp on the divorce document. I was pushed into a divorce against my own principles."-True Father on the subject of Seon Gil Chol

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate RP: • If Mother was truly the one destined to marry Father, why actually marry another woman first? Father obviously does not believe in or advocate divorce, so why marry Seon Gil Chol before going on to marry Han Hak Ja? It just doesn't make sense.
• Seon Gil Choi was very Christian, too: "The influence of her own family, which was strongly Christian-" (Pg. 134 As a Peace Loving Global Citizen) So was she an Only Begotten Daughter, as well? Who's lying here, True Father or Han Mother?

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate DF —Of course it is true that TF's first wife was also a potential Only Begotten Daughter. Just as John the Baptist's sister [acc to TF] was originally chosen and very specially born/prepared, so was TF's first wife. God always prepares a secondary course, and TM is the one who fulfilled the role, so naturally she rightfully holds the title of Only Begotten daughter.

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate Dan Fefferman's closing statement. We've agreed that Only Begotten Daughter refers to TM. I believe two other women were also chosen to receive this title, but TM is the one who proved victorious. I am uncertain as to whether she was born without original sin, but it does seem to be within the realm of possibility given what TF said about her special lineage [7 gens of only-sons followed by 3 gens of only-daughters, plus the great faith of TM's mother and grandmother]. Finally I think she is

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate RP: Dan, how would you feel if Susan started

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate RP: to conclude I'd like to share a quote where Father expressed concern that Mother might not "lift him up" after he went to the spirit world. The Substantial God / God Incarnate attends to the God of Night. I put Mother in that position and she must attend to me as I did to the God of Night. She is like my physical body. Even if Mother goes up to that position (of the God of Day) she must now that there is the God of Night upon her. She, putting me on the top of the God of Day, must be able to attend to me as the God of Night. When it is done, everything is fully finished.
IF MOTHER DOES NOT KNOW THIS, I WILL NOT GO TO THAT POSITION."

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate RP: Consider that one of Mother's first acts after taking power following Father's Seonghwa was to FIRE her youngest son from ALL of his positions in Korea. This is a curious action given the motto she often repeats about "forgive, love, unite." How did she apply this when firing her youngest son? Here is a video clip where Yeonah Nim explains the bizarre way this firing took place. I have A LOT more to say, but I would like to ask Dan if Mother's actions in FIRING her anointed son from ALL of his positions fits with his concept of Mother's providential role to bring unity within the True Family? IS THIS "FORGIVE, LOVE, UNITE?"

The Panzer-Fefferman Debate DF – True Mother's role is pretty much up to her in my opinion. If Hyung Jin Nim were supporting her, she could have gradually stepped back and allowed him and Yeon Ah Nim to have a greater role. Instead, he failed understand her heart of unity with TF and began accusing her the most heinous crimes imaginable. But even if HgJn were supporting her, I'm really glad she has been teaching us more about the Motherly side of God's nature, and sharing her heart with us about her own course etc. I think she's doing a great job.

About "firing" HgJN. She did not fire HgJn after TF's seong wha. She sent him to rescue us in America in the wake of the In Jin fiasco. During that time he remained the International President. Eventually she called him back to Korea but he refused to go... then he established his own church against her wishes. Only when it became clear that he was strongly disunited with her, even opposing and criticizing her openly, did she have him removed from his office.
