What May Come in the End of the Semester

Just like that, another school semester has come to a close. You did it! We did it!

The end of May tends to be a time of reflection, celebration, closure, transition, or all of the above, especially for our college students. For some of us, it was the conclusion of another semester or year of school. For others, it was time for graduation and entering a new chapter in life. Some may have clear plans while others may still have no idea what's next. It can be scary yet exciting, stepping into the unknown.

In the midst of the whirlwind of activities, we hope you all get to celebrate and acknowledge all your accomplishments from this semester.

In terms of our activities, we keep going! Even just looking at some recent events, CARP students have been working hard in various ways to make an impact in their local community. The Hawaii chapter worked together with other local organizations in a beach clean-up for Earth Day. Dallas CARP hosted the "Love 101" program with a guest speaker. CARP New Jersey hosted a weekend retreat to dive into the Divine Principle. Our students continually strive forward because of supporters like you. Take a look below!:
