THE WASHINGTON BRIEF

Monthly Forum of Experts Assessing Risks and Opportunities on the Korean Peninsula

Special Security Challenges in the U.S.

Election Season

War by any name but war

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3 AT 2 PM ET

National Security Editor,
The Washington Times

Security Issues commentator; former Special Envoy for negotiations with North Korea

Professor, Center for Security Studies,
Georgetown University

President,
The Washington Times
Foundation

Some have observed that the U.S. is under attack everywhere in the world, but without actually being in combat. Cyber attacks are increasingly the first shots fired in combat, whether declared or undeclared. We are “involved” in Ukraine, Gaza, Taiwan and the Korean Peninsula. Meanwhile, at home we could not be any more divided short of getting physical. And we haven’t a clue who has come across our southern border on Biden-Harris’ watch. The threat assessment is high.

Join Washington Times National Security Editor Guy Taylor, along with moderator Amb. Joseph DeTrani, former U.S. envoy to the six-party talks and Dr. Alexandre Mansourov, professor of security studies at Georgetown, as they examine the security challenges both parties face going into our national election.
