Realstew Showcase

A Method of Sustainable Funding by Realstew Founder, Paddy Delaney

Thursday 21st January

UPF

43 Lancaster Gate, London, W2 3NA

Registration and Refreshments 6:30pm / Event 7:00pm to 8:30pm

We would like to introduce you to Realstew: an online sustainable funding method to support your charity or other favourite cause. On the 21st of January we have the special opportunity of having the founder of Realstew, Paddy Delaney, here to explain this to us in person. Fundraising for philanthropic or humanitarian causes is getting ever more difficult. The global economic crisis has seen the “donatable pound in the pocket” shrink. Traditional methods of fundraising have given way to regular giving in the hope that this would enhance the sustainability of such donation. However, even this is under attack from the ongoing effects of the economic crisis. To know more about Realstew please use this link here.

Here at UK - UPF we have experienced this and so we have arranged a series of seminars focussed on developing sustainable funding for you and your organisation. The first of these will take place on Thursday 21st January 2016 (in time to kick start your new year's fundraising efforts). Please bring your laptop or ipad to best utilise Paddy Delaney's explanation first hand.

UK - UPF members will naturally attend free of charge. Non-members could pay £30 for attendance including a one-year's UK-UPF membership and entitle you to attend all future sustainable funding events through the year. However, if you do not want to become a UPF Member the price is £12 on the door or £10 in advance online for this event. Subsequent events will be similarly priced.

As seating is limited we would ask that you RSVP. There is a link for payment here. RSVP to pa@uk.upf.org

With very best regards,

David Buckley, UPF Membership Secretary
