Additional Information on the Project NTC HRE: Respect, Review, Release HRE. Report, React, Respond to Hate Speech

The general aims are to promote Human Rights (HR) among young people and their role as citizens, to contrast discrimination based on religion background in the process, both offline and online and to exercise and defend democratic rights use them to engage and influence political decision related to HR and HRE. The course also aims to empower youth workers of our local partner in UK with tools and methodologies regarding HRE in order to start a common campaign in UK and to support participants to implement concrete actions through their organisations, implementing new projects and positively influence local authorities on the importance of HRE. The aim is also to give concrete tools to be used at social and national level to fight hate speeches, promote HR and intercultural and interfaith dialogue: in particular in this period of big fears related to terrorism and extremism.

The Council of Europe’s No Hate Speech Movement campaign was set up to mobilise young people in awareness-raising and acting on the issues related to hate speech and human rights online. From 2013 to 2015 member states set up National Campaigns and took part in the European campaign to gain a better understanding of the issues young people are concerned with and ways forward to counter this challenge to human rights and democracy.

In May 2015, in the framework of the Action Plan on the fight against violent extremism and radicalisation leading to terrorism, the Committee of Ministers decided to continue the No Hate Speech Movement campaign until 2017. This campaign remains driven by the need to counter online hate speech in all its forms, including those that most affect young people, such as cyberbullying and cyberhate, racism and other forms of discrimination. The campaign is based upon human rights education, youth participation and media literacy.

The thematic focus of the campaign in 2016-2017 will be Antisemitism, Sexist hate speech, Refugees, Root causes of violent extremism, Counter-narratives, Reporting, and Education.

We look forward to receiving your kind reply.
