House of Lords

London, United Kingdom—In response to recent acts of terror in Europe, UPF-UK will hold a discussion in the House of Lords on promoting unity as a means to prevent radicalization.

The meeting, which is already full, is being hosted by Baroness Sandip Verma on June 28, 2017.

The Universal Peace Federation recommends that all communities strive for mutual unity and that extremes should be isolated. It is in the unity of the different communities that compose the United Kingdom that we find the strength to oppose violent extremism. That precious unity transcends the limitations of understanding another faith, another nationality or another race. It is based on the significance of upholding each other's equal rights as citizens to participate in the public life of the UK.

The Speakers

Humphrey Hawksley is an author, commentator and long-standing foreign correspondent. His work as a BBC foreign correspondent has taken him all over the world. He was expelled from Sri Lanka, arrested in Serbia, opened the BBC's television bureau in China, and initiated a global campaign against enslaved children in the chocolate industry—a campaign that continues today.
