Dear,

The summer months have arrived!! With classes being dismissed around the country, we hear the sounds of children playing in our neighborhoods, laughter during family picnics, conversations for the future, and relationship announcements... It's family time!

And while also sharing with our immediate families, Women's Federation for World Peace would like to express our thanks to you, for the ongoing financial support given to our 10 schools and all the students we help sponsor in Africa.

We take pride in, and responsibility for, their continued success and consider them part of our extended family. With this request to begin your personal contribution, or to continue your financial support for WFWP Schools of Africa project, allow us to share a family success story with you as a participant and recipient of our students' LOVE for your generosity.

Sally, Social Self Support Assistance Center "JAMOO", Senegal: Sally learned dressmaking, lacemaking, embroidery, and economics, and she says,

"I think the school is not only for sewing, but also bringing individuals together and giving them a future. Teachers are like mothers to us...I met the friends of my life who became my sisters."
