“Dad and Mom were immigrants, people of faith and in the diplomatic corps. They loved reading, writing, music, dance, cuisine and making clothes and gave those to me. They got me through college, where I heard a life-plan from Confucianism: until 20 one studies, until 40 one makes a family, until 60 one is the most productive, and until 80 one bequeaths to the next generation. I've tried to follow that and throughout, music, martial arts and my teachers — Revs. Moon and their disciples — have figured prominently.” — Gerry Servito
