WASHINGTON, D.C. — In light of attacks on religious freedom in China, Japan, the Middle East, and elsewhere, The Washington Times Foundation and Think Tank 2022 are convening the Conference of Hope for Universal Human Rights and Religious Freedom.

The conference will highlight human rights issues around the world as part of the missions of The Washington Times Foundation and Think Tank 2022, a Korean Peninsula reunification initiative, to promote peace and security globally—and especially on the Korean Peninsula and the Pacific Rim. The conference will be live-streamed from South Korea simultaneously in time zones around the world. In the United States, it will begin Friday, November 11, 2022, at 7:30 p.m. EST and 4:30 p.m. PST.

A highlight of the conference will be the introduction and adoption of a Declaration on the Universal Value of Religious Freedom. “We call on all people throughout the world to stand firm against all forms of religious intolerance, prejudice, slander, and hate,” concludes the Declaration, which will be signed by representatives of Korea, Japan, and numerous countries.

The conference’s keynote speakers will underscore the importance of universal human rights and religious freedom at a time when many followers of the world’s major and minor religions face persecution, intolerance, discrimination, and violence in many countries.

Universal Human Rights

Religious Freedom

The Conference of Hope for Universal Human Rights and Religious Freedom transcends political, religious, racial, and ideological boundaries and seeks to build a unified and more peaceful world around the core ideals of interdependence, mutual prosperity, and universal values. Among the issues to be discussed are the plights of Muslim Uyghurs, Tibetan Buddhists, Jews, Christians, Bahais, Jehovah's Witnesses, Yazidis, Falun Gong, and Unificationists. During the conference, representatives from Japan will ask their government and people to "honor long-standing traditions of fairness and mutual respect" and cease the "unjustified persecution of the members of the Family Federation" that began after the shocking and tragic assassination of former Prime Minister Shinzo Abe. The Washington Times Foundation, founded in 1984 in Washington, D.C., hosts numerous programs, including its monthly "Washington Brief," to gather expert commentary on issues relating to peace and security in the world.

The Conference of Hope for Universal Human Rights and Religious Freedom will offer translation in numerous languages. Please register and join us for this important and timely event at www.ConferenceofHope.info

2-way Registration for Japanese Members and Missionaries: Conference of Hope, Friday, Nov. 11, 7:30pm Eastern

Dear Participant,

The Conference of Hope for the Realization of a Heavenly Unified World supporting universal human rights and religious freedom will be held on Saturday, November 12 at 9:30 am (Korean time), which is Friday, November 11, 7:30 pm Eastern/ 4:30 pm Pacific.

Japanese Members and Missionaries are invited to join as special interactive participants. As interactive participants, please have with you a Japanese flag and the national flag (USA or CANADA, or other).

We are likely to use these flags to wave at the camera screens at specific times throughout the program.

* 2-way participants are asked to join at least 15 minutes before any event, so from 7pm EST on Friday, Nov. 11.

* There will also be a rehearsal, where you can test your connection and see when the flags will be used. The rehearsal is on Friday, Nov. 11 at 5am EST/ 2am PST.

Joining by 2-way requires us to be fully visible and present throughout the event, as we serve as a live audience in attendance. Dress code is suit or equivalent attire.

We use a special online platform for 2-way to connect to all events called gooromee. You will need a good internet connection, preferably with a landline, computer camera, and clear background. It is also recommended to use Chrome. After you register, we will send you an email with more detailed instructions and the link for joining.

Thank you.
