September 2016 Update

Naokimi Ushiroda - September 30, 2016

Fall in love with Principle!

The Power of Principles

Going into the Fall season, there is lots of change around us. The trees are on the verge of displaying incredible, breathtaking colors.

As we reflect on change, think about,
"What would YOU change, if you could?"

Even though you can't change a person (at least not directly), you can empower them. You can offer support, resources, and a powerful network. When we come together, we are powerful.

Why Principles?

Unfortunately, not all networks use their power in a good way. But, imagine if young people come together based on Unification Principles, principles that bring us together based on the culture of heart that embraces one global family under God.

How powerful would that be!?!?

We need you to make this possible, especially for the young people of today. College students are berated with tons of conflicting messages.

You can remind them of what's really important and give them the tools and resources to be global citizens, people who love God, love humanity, and love the world.

Imagine a whole generation of young people who live by principles of peace and unification...
