

Purity Lecture All we need is Love

Bucharest, Romania, 7. May 2014

Bong Moon Jeong

Greetings from Romania, We had organized a new lecture from our “All you need is love!”- Pure Love series and we tried to approach the topic of love relationships from a point of view that doesn’t just talk about romantic relationships but it goes deeper, into the family environment, describing a love that can motivate people to change into the best that they can be. At the beginning, we asked what is the purpose of marriage and this represented a good starting point as many answers appeared, one person even saying that “Marriage is the way we can receive God’s consent for the relationship we want to have”.

One of the exercises that we made was to reflect about the importance of lineage and write down a few words that describe each of our family members, what we have learn helpful from them and what type of negative habit we want to put an end to from our behavior, with the clear purpose of discovering HOW we can create our dream family for the future. A second exercise(in the pictures below) tried to explain that we are receiving many messages from society about love but that we must filter them and especially feel which are true, more than just listening and believing everything. Otherwise we put our love in a vulnerable position and might misuse this precious gift.

Romanian young people are excited to talk about love and its meaning and it’s an inspiring and maturing idea that we get married for the sake of our spouse and that we should be determined to try to love him or her more that we love a beautiful person. We hope to send a clear message about the importance of preparation before marriage and moreover that we need to reach a higher standard of love centered on Heavenly Parents, at the same time underlining the value of keeping purity.

Thank you very much our beloved Heavenly Parents for your message of wisdom and love – we truly want to become people that can create heavenly families.

Thank you very much to our Heavenly Parents and beloved True Parents!