

Open HDH Discussion

Bucharest, CARP center, Bong Moon Jeong, May 11, 2018

The Open HoonDokHae is part of our JeonDo activities in Romania, and through it we want to spread True Parents words and culture for the young people and offer guidance for their life. Every two weeks we gather and read a small text together and then we share our understanding and opinion about it, encouraging the participants to reflect more deeply about their life.

Last Friday our topic for the Open HoonDokHae event was “The heart of a leader”, and we read a part from the CheonSeongGyeong and also selections from other articles about leadership. The main idea was that a true leader is not the person who has the power and just has to be served by the others, but is the most miserable person because is the one who has to sacrifice and work the hardest for the members, show the best example for the others and have a clear and unchanging heart.

We made two teams and we had time to reflect about the topic and discuss about it and also answer three questions: “What do you think that are the most important characteristics of a good leader?”, “Have you ever been in the position to be a leader; what did you realize from that experience?” and “What kind of leader do you want to be?”. The participants were inspired and almost everybody shared that a good leader has to take initiative and do things for others, have a loving heart and emphasize with the people, listen to the members and help them to discover their potential and grow. Some of us we had the experience to be in the leader position and it was really a life-changing experience, not easy, but from which we could grow and understand the heart of a parent.

Maybe not all of us will have the chance to have an important position in the society and became great leaders, but in different levels, in our families, in our communities, in our group of friends, surely at some point we will be in the position of a leader, so we determined to do our best, have a parental heart, take decisions centered on what is the best for the others and in this way we will feel the greatest joy.
