

Romania CARP Holds Christmas Family Festival

Romania, Bucharest Peace Center, Bong Moon Jeong, December 14, 2018

Fifty guests attended a Christmas Family Festival held by Romania CARP in the Bucharest Peace Center on December 14, 2018.

The theme of the festival was “Family Values.” Our purpose in holding this event was to impress upon families and young people the value of a happy family. Our Family Festival started with a guitar concert offered by five students who have been studying guitar in CARP during the last three months .

Next followed the main speech of the event offered by Mr. Jeong Bong Moon, the president of FFWPU-Romania. It was a positive speech about what is important in life. If we do not know what is important in life, it will be problem, he said. When we are young, we should prepare well for our future family, especially in choosing our future husband or wife, he said. Everyone enjoyed the practical life advice, given with a joyful spirit.

After this, several students from Sun Moon University in Korea, who have been visiting Romania in a three-week internship program, performed a light show and a dance routine. They poured all their love and effort into creating an enjoyable performance.

In order to prepare better next time, we had a short moment of feedback and everyone wrote down impressions and contacts for the next event.

Our next activity was a game of Bingo, in which everyone took part. We all played Bingo until each person won and could receive a gift from Romania CARP. It was a very exciting and joyful time.

In the end we sang one Romanian carol together in the spirit of Christmas .

We closed our Family Festival with socializing over refreshments and tea.

We will continue this family event in the following months in order to deepen the friendships with our guests and share the Divine Principle teachings.
