

8 Day Fast on Holy Ground in DC for the True Family - September 18, 2017

Several weeks ago I posted the following:

Just feeling personally responsible for all the divisiveness in our Movement which ultimately goes back to the True Family. How am I responsible for the problems in the True Family, including H1 & 2? True Father and Mother had to love me before they could love their own children, and now we criticize them for their actions and can't even distinguish correctly between their names. If we want unity in our Movement, it will have to begin with a sacrifice on our part to heal the differences in the True Family. No other way.

We were the cause. It will be our responsibility to start the healing process. Who's willing to cut the bickering and name calling and make the sacrifice

At the time, I was, of course, doing the prayer condition for True Mother and Madison Square Garden and one of Her prayer points was forgiveness, love and unity and that is the path I went down. I also had a pretty good idea what kind of a condition I wanted to do but wanted to wait and see what True Mother might schedule for the Movement after MSG.

So having seen nothing scheduled for the week of September 18, I would like to offer an 8 day fast on Holy Ground in DC for the True Family. It would begin at noon on Sunday, September 10 and end at noon on Monday, September 18. The True Family consists of 16 members including True Parents. I would pray for two each day. One in the morning and one in the afternoon along with the fast.

If anyone from any part of the Movement would like to join me in any part of the prayer or fast you would be more than welcome. As far as I am concerned, we are one, and there is a very real part of me that would rather fast until that is realized. But True Father and True Mother set the condition of loving us before loving their own family and it is time that we returned that favor and unconditional love.

Please understand, I will welcome supporters of True Mother, H1 and H2 to join me in the fast and prayer. But it would NOT be to seek justification for your own position. Rather, it would be to support the healing and unity of the True Family. And it would be to fast and pray for each member of the Family, both individually and collectively.
