

FFWPU UK: Fight Against Gender Ideology on the streets of Colchester in Essex

This photo is of me on the streets of Colchester in Essex. Colchester has about 2000 six form students in the city, and many come into town for lunch. It's a great opportunity to engage with them on the destructive affect gender ideology is having on so many vulnerable children and teenagers.

This photo was taken on the first day's activity in late September this year and I make this a weekly visit to Colchester high street. I've had many good conversations with students and older people who have concerns about what their children and grandchildren are being taught in school.

Most responses are very positive with a lot of support. Quite often I am asked if I am religious and when I say yes can often talk about God, religion and spirituality and the best part is I don't need to approach people. They come forward to me and start the conversation.

45 More believable lies

Gender Ideology activists will use the believable lie that transpeople never detransition. However, the reality is different and more and more medical practitioners are reporting an increase in those who transitioned seeking support to detransition. The following link from PragerU called DETRANS: The Dangers of Gender-Affirming Care is a short video that gives an insight into the difficulties for those wishing to revert back to their natal sex. ## About Billboardron

Hi, I'm Ron.

I'm a father of two, one boy and one girl both now in their thirties with four grandchildren aged 2, 3, 5 and a few weeks! I've been following what has been happening this last decade or so and seen the rise of atheistic totalitarian ideologies which would broadly come under the banner of Cultural Marxism and witnessed their game plan in action.

What concerns me most however, is how one aspect (gender identity) is confusing so many parents, young adults and teens. Woke activists use believable lies couched in words like compassion, diversity and equality but that just makes understanding the lie more appealing. Children are never born in the wrong body and trying to overcome what is an internal psychological problem by mutilating and forcing the body into an unnatural state does not solve the problem but makes it worse. And when gender dysphoric teens eventually work out who they are only to find that the drugs, chemicals and surgery are not reversible then not only are their internal issues not resolved but now often face long term depression and dependency on medication.

The purpose of this website is to inform so that parents can make the best decisions for their children and to be aware of the indoctrination now taking place in schools, often without parental consent.
