

FFWPU USA President's Corner: The Inquisition That Never Ended

Demian Dunkley
November 13, 2025

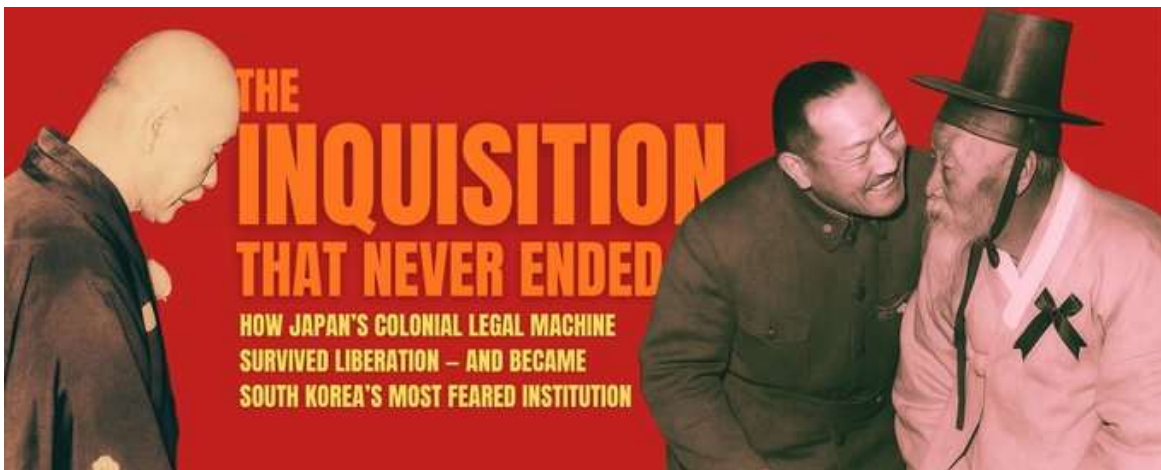

FAMILY FEDERATION

President's Corner

November 13, 2025

The Inquisition That Never Ended

How Japan's colonial legal machine survived liberation — and became South Korea's most feared institution

(Part 2 of "Three Prosecutors. Four Months. No Truth.")

Preface: The Korean Presidential Curse

Why is it, that every president of South Korea has faced ruin after leaving office—exile, prison, impeachment, even suicide? The outcomes differ, but the verdict is always the same: guilt.

From Syngman Rhee's flight into Hawaiian exile to Roh Moo-hyun's death under investigation, from Park Geun-hye's imprisonment to Moon Jae-in's looming inquiries, no Korean leader has escaped the ritual.

“In most democracies, power ends with retirement. In Korea, it ends with penance.”

Former President Yoon Suk Yeol attends the first hearing of his trial on charges including aggravated obstruction of official duties and abuse of power at the Seoul Central District Court in Seocho District, southern Seoul on Sept. 26. [JOINT PRESS COPRS] - From Korea JoongAng Daily

This is more than politics. It is the symptom of something older and deeper—a prosecutorial state engineered by Japan to control its colony, rooted in Confucian notions of hierarchy and moral order.

After liberation, only the flag above the courthouse changed. The empire's machinery stayed intact—the same hierarchy, the same men, the same mission: control through law.

read, share, comment

FOLLOW

REV. DUNKLEY ON X

@DEMIANDUNKLEY

Speak up on social media

Share this injustice and your personal testimony on social media. Facts and articles to share about her detention can be found in the News section of MotherOfPeace.com and by following Rev. Dunkley on X.

get informed

Support religious freedom

Your generosity is helping us fight this injustice. Help us promote religious freedom in South Korea by making a donation below.

support here

Wear the message

Show your support for True Mother with a #ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace and FAITH FREEDOM PEACE t-shirt or hoodie.

buy here

Follow Us

Did a friend forward this to you? Subscribe to The Newsletter.

Article

Reply

Demian Dunkley
@DemianDunkley

Follow

Three Prosecutors. Four Months. No Truth.

92

233

370

111K

Inside South Korea's Special Counsel Crisis and the Legacy It Revealed.

It began, as so many scandals in South Korea do, with promises of purification. Three special prosecutors were appointed this summer to cleanse the nation of its latest sins: treason, corruption, and cover-up. Four months later, all three are mired in confusion. Not one has proved its central claim. What began as a pledge to restore public faith in justice has devolved into spectacle, raids without convictions, headlines without evidence, and prosecutors chasing the ghosts of their own ambitions.

The investigations, into alleged "insurrection" by former president Yoon Suk-yeol, supposed corruption by his wife Kim Keon-hee, and the death of a young Marine, were meant to be independent, decisive, and surgical. Instead, they have become symbols of drift. Even the Chosun Ilbo, often sympathetic to the government, lamented that investigators were "clinging to side matters rather than clarifying the core."

By November, it was no longer clear who was on trial, the defendants or the system itself. Now, as their mandates expire, the spectacle is collapsing under its own contradictions. The "Kim Keon-hee probe," which began as a stock-manipulation case, has produced only minor indictments. The "insurrection inquiry," designed to expose a grand act of treason, has shrunk to procedural quibbles. And the "Marine death" team, once pursuing truth about a soldier's drowning, is now interrogating other investigators. Together they form a trilogy of futility, each born in moral fury and ending in bureaucratic absurdity. Lie-detector tests on witnesses. Prosecutors investigating prosecutors. A lead special counsel accused of insider trading. The theater of justice has become indistinguishable from parody.

The Kim Keon-hee Probe — When the Prosecutor Becomes the Story

The case against the former First Lady was supposed to showcase the independence of Korea's legal system. It has done the opposite.

After months of raids and interrogations, the investigation has yielded little beyond spectacle: Chanel handbags, a Graff necklace, and a collapsing moral center. In October, Special Counsel Min Joong-ki's team seized luxury items allegedly given to Kim by a Unification Church associate. The counsel trumpeted the discovery, yet the same month, forty prosecutors assigned to Min's task force staged an unprecedented rebellion, demanding to be sent back to their home offices. JoongAng Daily described the protest as "mutiny inside the special counsel."

Then came tragedy. A local official in Yangpyeong County, questioned by Min's investigators about a real-estate case linked to Kim, took his own life. He left behind 21 pages accusing prosecutors of coercion and even forgery of interrogation records. His lawyer has filed a lawsuit against the special counsel for abuse of power and document fabrication. Opposition lawmakers called it "a witch hunt that killed an innocent man."

And still the case lurches on, now led by a prosecutor whose own record mirrors the charges he is bringing. In mid-October, Chosun Ilbo revealed that Min Joong-ki himself once traded shares in Neo Semitech, the very company at the center of Kim Keon-hee's stock-manipulation scandal. While thousands of investors were wiped out, Min sold his holdings just before the stock was suspended, pocketing roughly ₩100 million.

Ruling-party lawmakers call it hypocrisy; conservative editorials have demanded his resignation. Min insists he simply "followed a broker's advice," refusing to name the broker or explain the timing. JoongAng Daily warned that unless he provides full transparency, "the credibility of his entire investigation is at risk."

A prosecutor who profited like an insider now investigates another for the same. A team meant to uncover corruption is consumed by it. By November, the Kim Keon-hee probe had become less about justice than about survival.

The Insurrection Inquiry — A Coup on Trial

If the Kim case is imploding, the Yoon Suk-yeol insurrection trial is the country's grandest spectacle, equal parts courtroom drama and political exorcism.

The special counsel led by Cho Eun-seok is probing Yoon's declaration of martial law on December 3, 2024, a six-hour decree that triggered his impeachment and removal. Yoon now sits in a detention cell, tried for insurrection and abuse of power. His trial, televised by special permission, is being called Korea's most dramatic political reckoning in decades.

The proceedings have produced moments that border on the surreal. A retired major general testified that Yoon ordered him to detain opposition lawmakers so he could "shoot and kill them all himself." Former aides describe a president consumed by paranoia, convinced “anti-state forces” were conspiring against him.

To supporters, this is overreach, a vendetta disguised as virtue. The opposition People Power Party argues that the investigation was pre-ordained, that Yoon’s arrest after just weeks of inquiry proves the special counsel had its verdict before the trial. To others, it is long-delayed accountability for a leader who flirted with authoritarian rule.

The line between justice and revenge has blurred. When the court approved live broadcast of the hearings, legal scholars called it “transparency,” while critics called it “theater.” In either case, the prosecution of a former president, once unthinkable, has become a public ritual, part penance, part entertainment.

The Marine Death Case — The Tragedy That Turned Political

The third investigation, led by Special Counsel Lee Myeong-hyeon, began with a drowning.

In July 2023, Marine Corporal Chae Su-geun was swept away by floodwaters while searching for missing civilians. He wore no life vest. When military investigators traced responsibility to senior officers, the Defense Ministry suddenly intervened, recalling reports, stalling referrals, and allegedly shielding commanders.

By mid-2025, whistleblowers claimed a Blue House-ordered cover-up, and Parliament appointed an independent counsel. In October, Lee sought arrest warrants for five high-ranking officials, including former Defense Minister Lee Jong-sup, accusing them of abuse of power and evidence tampering. Investigators say the minister stopped the case “after President Yoon flew into a rage” that one of his generals was being blamed.

Even now, Yoon cannot escape the dragnet. On October 23, the special counsel summoned the former president for questioning as a criminal suspect in the cover-up. Yoon refused to appear voluntarily. He may be compelled to testify under guard, an extraordinary humiliation for a former commander-in-chief.

Families of the dead Marine demand justice; conservatives decry political vengeance. Whichever side prevails, the tragedy of one young soldier has become another battleground in Korea’s endless legal war.

The Pattern — Law Without Truth

Across all three probes, the pattern is unmistakable: investigative drift, political theater, and moral exhaustion.

The special-prosecutor system was created in the 1990s to curb prosecutorial overreach by empowering “independent” teams. Today those teams look less independent than unaccountable, vast bureaucracies pursuing headlines instead of justice.

In the Kim Keon-hee case, prosecutors leak luxury brands instead of evidence. In the insurrection trial, they televise testimony like a courtroom serial. In the Marine inquiry, they summon an impeached president more for symbolism than necessity. Each investigation extends indefinitely.

expanding its scope the moment facts fail to fit. The result is not truth but momentum, the appearance of motion that conceals the absence of conclusion.

This is not new. Korea's prosecution service was born under Japanese colonial rule, perfected under military dictatorship, and only partially reformed in democracy. Its prosecutors were trained not as neutral arbiters but as guardians of state order, a tradition of moral absolutism masquerading as law. Even after democratization, that DNA persisted: the prosecutor as inquisitor, the suspect as sinner, confession as proof.

Three decades of reform have trimmed its powers but not its instincts. What was once called the Republic of Prosecutors endures. Public confidence tells the story. Trust in the judiciary hovers around 26 percent, among the lowest in the OECD. Each scandal widens the gap between legality and legitimacy.

The Human Cost

But the damage goes deeper than politics. It reaches into the conscience of a nation.

A local official who could not endure another interrogation. An 82-year-old religious leader, Dr. Hak Ja Han, held in a solitary cell by the same prosecutorial establishment that raids churches in the name of justice. A drowned Marine whose death became political collateral.

Each case exposes a justice system that punishes to prove its virtue, a system more concerned with performance than proportion.

Since August, more than 120 raids and interrogations have been conducted by special counsels nationwide, most without convictions. Koreans have seen this movie before. Every generation is promised a new beginning; every act ends in the same courtroom. Public fatigue has turned to quiet disbelief. The show goes on, but the audience no longer claps.

The Mirror Held to the State

Four months into the great cleansing, Korea's special counsels have indicted nearly everyone but themselves. They promised to expose corruption and ended up exposing the system.

In the Republic of Prosecutors, justice has become performance, a ritual of accusation that never reaches atonement. The law now performs righteousness even as faith in it collapses. The robes remain, the stage lights still burn, but the actors no longer notice that the audience has stopped believing.

Sources and References

- Chosun Ilbo, Oct. 29, 2025 — "Special Prosecutor Probes Prosecution's Lenient Handling of Kim Keon-hee Case."
- JoongAng Daily, Nov. 4, 2025 — "Ex-First Lady Kim Keon Hee Files for Bail Amid Bribery Trial."
- JoongAng Daily, Oct. 22, 2025 — "Special Probe Team Receives Luxury Items Allegedly Given to Ex-First Lady."

- JoongAng Daily, Oct. 14, 2025 — “Lawyer of Late Yangpyeong County Official Vows to Sue Special Counsel Team.”
- JoongAng Daily, Oct. 19, 2025 — “Special Counsel Investigating Ex-First Lady Faces Own Capital Gains Probe.”
- South China Morning Post, Nov. 4, 2025 — “Yoon Planned to Capture, Kill Political Rivals: Court.”
- Korea JoongAng Daily, Nov. 3, 2025 — “Special Counsel Seeks Arrest Warrant for PPP Lawmaker Over Martial Law Role.”
- Yonhap News / KBS World, Oct. 13, 2025 — “Yoon to Be Summoned for Questioning Next Week in Marine Death Case.”
- Korea Times, Oct. 20, 2025 — “Special Counsel Seeks Arrest Warrant for Ex-Defense Chief and 4 Others in Marine Death Probe.”

#SouthKorea #Justice #Lawfare #KimKeonHee #YoonSukYeol
#MarineDeathCase #HumanRights #ReligiousFreedom
#FaithFreedomPeace #PeaceStartsWithMe

 Want to publish your own Article?
Upgrade to Premium+

5:34 AM · Nov 5, 2025 · 111.4K Views

 92

 233

 370

 16

 Post your reply

Reply

Mihoko Ueki Gonzalez  @mihoko_ueki · Nov 5

Thank you, Rev. Dunkley, for taking the time to give us an eye-opening analysis.
Since President Lee Jae-myung took office, everything seems to have changed. It clearly exposes how justice in South Korea has turned into political issue — investigations without truth, trials
Show more

 1

 7

 20

 345

Sophie Tanemori  @sophie_wu63935 · Nov 5

The truth is starting to surface.
Justice has become a show, and conscience has grown cold.
The nation has lost not only trust, but its soul.
#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace #FreeKorea #ReligiousFreedom

 6

 22

 368

Rebecca  @galseekingtruth · Nov 5

This sounds like a novel in the making. I feel for the Koreans, chaos at the highest level has a negative effect on the whole country and must make them very insecure with their communist neighbors always looking for an opportunity to invade. #FreeKorea #KoreanPeninsula

 6

 18

 355

FOR JUSTICE, PEACE AND FEEDOM @Rush166116 · Nov 5

. "Thank you, Demian, for shining light on the deeper issue, the need for truth and heart in justice. May this moment awaken renewal and peace across Korea. 🙏 #PeaceStartsWithMe #TruthPrevails

 4

 21

 382

Eli Barrantes @EliBarrantesL · Nov 5

Praying that truth and fairness shine through all confusion🙏❤️ Even in hardship, True Mother's faith and love remain a light for Korea and the world. May justice and peace prevail🌺🕊️
#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace #FaithFreedomPeace #ReligiousFreedom
#PeaceStartsWithMe #Peacemaker

 4

 19

 306

- Rev. LUKE HIGUCHI @HiguchiLuk72715 · Nov 5
Powerful clarity, Demian. You connected the dots and defended the voiceless. I agree—and I'll keep praying, speaking, and mobilizing until justice and mercy meet in Korea. #ReligiousFreedom #PeaceStartsWithMe
1 4 19 254
- Reed Darsey @ReedDarsey · Nov 5
The prosecutor's office PR and/or Dilbert department should realize that when they say:
"Flee" or "flight risk."
The world hears, "The Korean police can't catch an 82-year-old blind lady bound to a wheelchair."
As if they can't find some fitness standards somewhere on the Show more
6 16 184
- florens janssen @FlorensJanssen · Nov 5
Truth will always reveal itself, sooner or later. Where hope prevails and the power of the multitude that fights for righteousness and peace, the Light of Heaven will shine through and bring reconciliation to everything and all. PLEASE STAY STRONG, BELOVED HOLY MOTHER HAN!!! ❤️
3 15 215
- Youngsoon Winter @YoungWinterSoon · Nov 5
Holy Mother Han is innocent! 🙏 What are these stooges hiding? Where is the truth they want to tell? All this suffering will only lead to the great works of Holy Mother Han in the future. #ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace
2 16 239
- Ken Morgan @kmorgan206 · Nov 5
#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace
Intriguing and timely analysis of of the Lee prosecutors and their efforts to depress the religious right while trying to appear as valiant Korean crusaders. Awesome job you're doing, young man. Awesome job.
3 13 170
- Michael Irwin @MichaelVIrwin · Nov 5
Demian, thank you this article which is not only brings to light the reality of these three prosecutions but is an indictment of the Korean's prosecution service.
Some points which stood out from your article:
Korea's prosecution service was born under Japanese colonial rule, Show more
1 3 13 167
- Yujin A @a_yujin_m · Nov 5
Their lawfare performance comes at the cost of the health and life of Dr. Hak Ja Han, Mother Han. This charade must end! Why the constant delay of justice? Postponing trials while detaining the innocent! #ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace #FreePastorSon #FreeKorea
1 3 9 108
- Benny Isac Jimo @IsacJimo1482 · Nov 5
What a corrupt system! Glad that they're exposing themselves. May Koreans be awakened and let the Truth and Justice save the Nation.
1 11 169
- Rob Mayze @RobMayze · Nov 5
May the truth be revealed! #ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace #FreeKorea #ReligiousFreedom
1 10 189
- Aldo D'Onofrio @aldodono89 · Nov 5
Great work Demian! You are showing the Truth about what's really going on 🙏 1 10 148
- hb moyer @moyerhb · Nov 5
Are these the birthing pains of what Korea and the Han people could

-

Are these the birthing pains of what Korea and the Han people could providentially contribute to human destiny?
#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace

 2

 7

 101

-

Robert Selle  @BobSelle · Nov 5

If the (Special Prosecutors') original motivation is impure, all the rest is tainted.
#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace #FreeKorea #ReligiousFreedom

 9

 122

-

Violeta Ujvari @ujelenav · Nov 5

Such a sad reality in South Korea now!
#TruthPrevails

 9

 164

-

Mineko Christian @BMChildren · Nov 5

It's so much confusion and incapability works are taking place in there. It's the end of time in Korea. Let's pray to God who has been raising this country patiently and find out his desire of SK.
#ReligiousFreedom
#ReleaseMotherOfPeace

 1

 7

 73

-

Lydia Compton  @lydialcompton · Nov 5

Disturbing in a democratic government & especially in one of our close allies.
#ReligiousFreedom
#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace
#freepastorson
#POTUS #FLOTUS

 1

 7

 66

-

Next Gen Department  @weare_nextgen · Nov 5

Thank you so much for probing into this nonsense prosecutor team! Especially chilling and enlightening to read this: "Korea's prosecution service was born under Japanese colonial rule, perfected under military dictatorship, and only partially reformed in democracy. Its
Show more

 2

 6

 108

-

Reed Darsey  @ReedDarsey · Nov 5

"His lawyer has filed a lawsuit against the special counsel for abuse of power and document fabrication."

They need to investigate why the world has moved on from the "third degree" and other coercive methods to ones that yield real testimony without harming the interrogated.

 8

 114

-

Kathy  @Kathy3k4 · Nov 5

"Four months into the great cleansing, Korea's special counsels have indicted nearly everyone but themselves. They promised to expose corruption and ended up exposing the system." Pres Lee, you are right, the government is so cruel to its own people! Stop political purge!
Show more

 8

 72

-

Masami Kageyama  @MasamiKageyama · Nov 5

Thank you for the in-depth analysis. When you lay it out like this, it's all really sad. These people who are supposed to help their country seem to be doing the opposite. We pray for our True Mother who is caught up in all of this. 🙏

#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace

 1

 6

 71

-

Greg Quigley @gregquigley43 · Nov 5

Time for the three prosecutors may be running out as the light of truth begins to shine !

 7

 122

-

Maru @HeavenlyMaru · Nov 5

Long-form deep-dive! What a great feat to produce such a crack in the castle of lies and deception!

Thank you, thank you, thank you.

   7  142

Richard Buessing @RichardBuessing · Nov 5

 ...

Great article! A must read to understand what's going on in S. Korea.

   7  79

Neringa  @Neringa84 · Nov 5

 ...

The Truth will come out soon!!! #FreeKorea #ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace

  1  4  94

Mary Helen Robles  @MaryHelenRt9 · Nov 5

 ...

Thank you! Thank you for this well documented report. Again the wisdom of Religious teachings to:

"seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

   6  103

Enma Lema @enma_lem39127 · Nov 5

 ...

The truth will come to light sooner or later, keep saying

   6  108

Nathaniel Nitro @NathanielNrfmn · Nov 5

 ...

#FreedomOfFaith

Truth will prevail

   6  81

Susan Munsell @SusanM60602 · Nov 5

 ...

It's amazing how God's unchanging love and truth are what eventually brings success in life. Whereas greed and a desire for recognition end up ruining everything and just messing you up! Like Mother Han says, the truth will be revealed!

   6  49

Robert Beebe  @RobertHBeebe · Nov 5

 ...

The longer True Mother remains in detention without trial the more the whole charade is being exposed. Let the light shine on these prosecutors themselves!

  1  6  62

Jose Suarez @Sua14461559Jose · Nov 5

 ...

Thank you for this accurate report We support you From Austria I pray tha the Korean Citizens make a Revolutuion to kick out this injust and ignorant Communist governement Im sure they are not so clean as they think.

   5  72

Yuleyka Salazar @yuleylucas3 · Nov 5

 ...

 Translated from Spanish Show original

May this moment awaken freedom, truth, and peace throughout Korea. 🙏

#PeaceStartsWithMe #TruthPrevails

   5  81

Peggy Yujiri  @pyujiri · Nov 5

 ...

Shocking revelations, political persecution at its worst.

   5  26

Beenise3 @beenise3 · Nov 5

 ...

Most lawyers are story tellers. Gather some fact, twist, and use against others. Here you cant hold a person who is shown to have not done something. Where is the proof? Here say is not proof. Until you get, that person is free. They have to build a case, not by finger pointing.

   5  55

Alan David Saunders  @Aussie2030 · Nov 5

 ...

These special prosecutors should be fired immediately and sent to NK with their communist friends and allies. Pastors and political opponents are under attack because of their beliefs. Seriously. This is an abuse of human rights. SK has devolved to a banana republic.

Show more

   5  69

 Keiko Healy @HealyKeiko31131 · Nov 5
Innocent Dr. Han was wrongly captured and stayed in a tiny cell without proper care. Her health declined, and she is currently undergoing medical treatment. Who is responsible for this entire injustice? Let's bring democracy back to the great country of Korea!
Show more

5 75

 FFWPU Europe & Middle East @ffwpueume · Nov 6
Thank you for the very detailed report, Demian. We pray for justice in this case and for the protection of religious freedom in South Korea and for all persecuted religious leaders. Europe stands with you.
#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace

1 3 84

 ABER SOU Jacqueline @aber_sou21330 · Nov 5
This article has proven what my gut feeling was telling me, "The Korean judicial system is not a system for justice and very weak." Some of the drama feels like kids fighting. It showed me the side of Korea that I didn't know. Thank you for sharing.

4 61

 Jean-Francois Moulinet @JeanFra76233092 · Nov 5
It's shocking and unbelievable!

4 74

 Tama Missouri @PeaceLoveHope57 · Nov 5
#SouthKorea #Justice #LawFare #KimKeonHee
#YoonSukYeol #MarineDeathCase
#HumanRights #ReligiousFreedom
#FaceFreedomPeace #PeaceStartsWithMe

4 94

 Norio Yamada @nyam1275 · Nov 5
Therefore, we must speak out loudly against injustice. If a government that holds power acts unjustly, especially when it comes to doing what is right, it will only fall further into disrepute.

4 55

 Lenka Marianov @Hope25Lenka · Nov 5
Interesting!!

4 40

 Dalibor Musil @dalibormusil · Nov 5
Unbelievable.
In Czecha, we had similar investigator Robert Šlachta, leading a special police team, which should prevent organised crime.
Issue was, almost no organised crime here, so they fabricated a case of a "sect", a tantric meditation group, alleged them from tantric sex 😞

1 4 84

 Ratna Thillairajan @thillai70 · Nov 5
Shameful people putting innocent people in detention. Do the they understand the consequences of their actions how much it will harm Korea.

4 63

 ivanilza @ivanilza1433322 · Nov 5
Thank you, Damien . I pray that this situation, in Korea, especially True Mother, is resolved.

4 60

 Sou Sylvain Ouattara @SouSylvain · Nov 9
I am sure that what started like a big wild fire will end like a simple spark and the truth will be revealed white and brighter than before.
#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace
#ReligiousFreedom

1 2 29

-

Yulie @Yulie1272884 · Nov 5

WOW~, no wonder Korean Drama gets so popular in the world !!! It spectacularly happens in the real world !!
I feel I just watched the movie, "Songs of Vendettas" !!

 3

 29

-

Young-Joo Tanaka @Cupcakeadventure · Nov 5

Very informative 🍌

 3

 58

-

Gabor Vasmatics @GaborVasmatics · Nov 6

Very similar to what has been going on in the USA. Prosecutors accusing the target, often with vague "evidence", twisting the words in the law, creating an environment of political theater.

Then after some months it comes to light that the prosecutors themselves had committed

Show more

 3

 20

-

Kochanpop @Kochanpop · Nov 5

TRUTH Always Prevail.
#FaithFreedomPeace
#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace
#SaveKorea
#FreedomOfFaith

 3

 60

-

Alan Jessen @ARJ1308 · Nov 5

Brilliant. The threads of these investigations a cloth full of holes
This is not right. This cannot continue. Thank you for this analysis.

 3

 21

-

California snow @dokonjoumaguro · Nov 5

What a parody. Lee Jae-myung's theater in real life.

 3

 72

-

carla perez @carlaperez1587 · Nov 5

 Translated from Spanish Show original

As the writer Eduardo Alighieri said:
The truth, though it hides, always finds its way to the light.
In the end, lies and injustices cannot endure; time reveals all that is hidden, restoring the balance.

#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace #ReligiousFreedom

 2

 11

Angele Nk @AngeleNkwe · Nov 5

Time for South Korea to review his judicial system.

 2

 47

Linda SZ @LindaSZ6e1j · Nov 5

The truth will be revealed

 2

 18

Albano Beqollari @Albanob369 · Nov 5

What's next?

 2

 71

Martin Slezák @mslezak2013 · Nov 6

Thank you, going to the heart of the matter. I didn't know that a current criminal investigation system in Korea is so influenced by its Japanese colonial gov and military gov's era predecessors. That explains a lot.

 1

 21

Reimi Mizuguchi @MizuguchiRei · Nov 6

 1

 8

RevMonestere @RevM82 · Nov 9

 Thank God some media is reporting and not abetting!
#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace

9

 Ingrid Gutierrez  @ingridjg19 · Nov 5

Thank you Rev.Dunkley! 🙏

Mother moon hasn't done anything wrong!! She's innocent and has been telling the truth ever since she got into that awful place. Dr.Hak Ja Han all her life has dedicated it to God and she continues to do so! Please release Mother Moon!! I hope Korea

Show more

7 66

 Junta Naito  @JuntaNaito · Nov 5

Exposing the hypocrisy of these prosecutors! They haven't delivered any of the promises they made to the Korean people and only ended up committing more crimes. These prosecutors need to be held accountable!

#ReligiousFreedom #ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace

5 65

 Dasse Diarra @das3862 · Nov 5

The world is being aware of the great corruption within the South Korean justice system. Sad!

4 66

 Karen Beebe @KarenBeebekf · Nov 5

Thank you, it is good to understand what is the origin of today's justice system in South Korea. All the more reason to #ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace Korean people are ,personally, so gracious and welcoming in my experience. Where is the disconnect? #FreeKorea

4 31

 Heikki Rissanen  @HeikkiRiss · Nov 5

What a mess! This reads like a Korean TV drama script, but real people suffer the consequences.

#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace - this investigation has no credibility.

4 30

 Hans Rinkema @SMM1935 · Nov 5

An incredible righteous arrival. Really showing the injustices of the legal system. It gives good insight in the weakness of various current court case. And it describes the history of how this flawed mindset developed. Excellent article showing righteousness is Winning

3 65

 Maria Nodarse @MariaNodarsd · Nov 5

Wow. Thank you President Dunkley for that thorough report. Sadly, Korea has fallen into such despicable spectacle. May truth and faith prevail!

#ReligiousFreedom
#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace

3 57

 Jean Rondon @JeanRondoncb · Nov 5

Thank you for all of your investment to give the real story behind this real current day Korean drama. You are a clear voice in the wilderness. The truth will prevail. Please keep strong and well.

#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace
#FaithFreedomPeace
#PeaceStartsWithMe

3 33

 Sarah Nishioka @SarahNish800 · Nov 5

The word 'politics' is from the Greek word 'politikos', meaning 'of, for, or relating to citizens or a city'.
It is time for S Korea to release its political prisoners and govern for the sake of the people!

#ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace
#ReligiousFreedom
@POTUS

@marcorubio

3

24

Justin Fleischman @JustinFlei62845 · Nov 5

These persecutors/prosecutors need a bunch of Ansu treatments!

3

12

Dervishaj Barbara @DervishajB34588 · Nov 7

We know real criminals who could spend their sentence at home, she is not even convicted BUTtreated inhumanely!!! Please Korea do not go down this path! You are the Chosen Nation from the East with the mission to PROTECT the ONLY BEGOTTEN DAUGHTER! #ReleaseTheMotherOfPeace

1

11

Show probable spam