Stopping the Violence webcast
Youth Violence in Chicago - PART 2
A report from activist Terrance Cooks
Wednesday, May 8, 2024 @ 2-3 PM EDT

With Special Guest: Terrance Cooks

Torrence Cooks, anti-violence activist from Chicago, found himself thrust into the national spotlight after a Cleveland-area pastor's televised remarks to President Trump about working with "top gang thugs" to address gun violence. Cooks, 43, was shocked by the attention his grassroots efforts garnered, as his simple idea of organizing a field trip to Washington, DC, evolved into a much larger initiative. Formerly a high-ranking member of the Gangster Disciples, Terrance Cooks focused on addressing violence in his community.
