Join us for an enlightening webinar on stopping crime and violence in America, featuring Rev Frederick Shaw Jr. As the Director of Public Affairs for the Citizens Commission on Human Rights International (CCHR) and President of the NAACP Inglewood-South Bay Branch, Rev Shaw has been a tireless advocate for human rights and children's safety. He played a key role in passing the Child Medication Safety Act, ensuring that children are not forced to take psychotropic drugs for their education. Rev. Shaw also founded a Task Force against Institutional Racism in the Psychiatric Industry, addressing the mental health industry's history of stigmatizing minorities.

With a rich background in law enforcement, community activism, and international human rights work, Rev Shaw has dedicated his life to reducing poverty, drug addiction, and violence. His initiatives, such as the World Literacy Crusade and the Basic Life Institute, have empowered at-risk youth and combated systemic racism. Don't miss this opportunity to hear from a powerful voice in the fight for justice and safety.
