

We had Special Grace Holy Wine Ceremony at the Norman Family Church

Jun Orikasa
August 7, 2016

We had Holy Wine Ceremony at the Norman Family Church on August 7. We are small congregation, but 17 people attended the ceremony. I was surprised by today's ceremony. Recently fewer people have been attending church service. But today I met six people who haven't come to Sunday Service for a long time. Among them, was one second generation brother who donated a beautiful sofa to the church. Another couple also donated a beautiful table for the church.

One sister talked with me about the one-day Divine Principle workshop which we held here on July 31. She said "I appreciated the last one-day workshop and reading Chambumo Gyeong. Throughout history, many religions had male central figures. But through reading this book, I realized God sent one man and one woman as central figures for the current age." I think that this sister has now realized how important the Chambumo Gyeong is. Another sister talked about her outreach goals with me. I will start doing outreach with her this week.

I believe today is a really substantial new start for us as Tribal Messiahs. I have more conviction for victory in 2020.