FACING THE TRUTH TO KEEP HIS MESSAGES

Mr. Myung Moon, Exiled in Japan by the Japanese

LOVE COMPLETELY EVEN THOSE WHO HATE

We get a glimpse into the intense pain and heartache anguish that Sun Myung Moon experienced through a poem he wrote during the nine years he spent working for the Divine Principle.

Crown of Glory

*"When I doubt people, I feel pain.
When I judge people, it is unbearable.
When I hate people, there is no room in my conscience.
But if I believe, I am delivered
If I love, I am resurrected.
Suffering and grieving brought me back to my heart.
Am I wrong?
Yes, I am wrong."*

*Even though we are despised and hated,
Though we are betrayed and despised,
I love completely even those who hate me.
With great love and willpower with a smile,
There will come a day when I will see
That those who have wronged me
Oh, Myung! The pain of heaven!
I feel every day.
Please just hold on, my dear,
My heart is longing for you.
And when I find those who are despising me,
I will give you the Crown of Glory!"*

*Oh, Myung! The pain of heaven!
I feel every day.
Please just hold on, my dear,
My heart is longing for you.
And when I find those who are despising me,
I will give you the Crown of Glory!"*

A DESPERATE BATTLE TO DISCOVER THE TRUTH

For the next nine years, Sun Myung Moon searched for answers to the many questions about life, the universe, our purpose and the nature of God. Through intense prayer, fasting and study, God revealed many secrets and deeply profound truths.

Sun Myung Moon in his student days

"The first year of my student days, I lived together with the Communist God and with love. Little by little, God revealed amazing truths to me. It felt as if the morning sun was rising after a long night of darkness. In that truth I could see the shining light of a new, glorious culture. These special revelations, based on the New Testament, are higher than any previous religious teachings. I felt that they had the power and ability to conquer all religions and sects there. The revelation that I received was the one of what is now called the Divine Principle. God had commanded me to spread this Principle to the ends of the earth."

Sun Myung Moon

CHILDHOOD

Japan annexed Korea in 1905, and Sun Myung Moon's family elders participated in independence efforts, risking their lives to free their nation from domination by Japan. His Great-uncle Yun Guk Moon was prominent in the March 1st Movement of 1919. He was imprisoned for 1 year 1 month.

"When I was about seven or eight years old, Great-uncle Yun Guk was staying at our house for a short time and some members of the Korean independence army came to see him. They were low on funds and had travelled by night through a heavy snowfall to reach our house. My father covered the heads of my children with a sleeping quilt so that we would not be awakened. I was already wide awake and I lay there under the quilt, my eyes wide open, listening as best I could to the sounds of the adults talking.

Great-uncle Yun Guk Moon

To this day I cannot forget the words that I heard Great-uncle Yun Guk speak as I lay there under the quilt. He was holding my hand in excitement. "You're wonderful," he said. "If you live for the sake of our country, you will be blessed." He continued, "Right now, our country is dark before the sun, but the bright morning is just around the corner. The effects of darkness do not last long. One of his books, Let Us Walk Forward with Courage."

"From the time I was old enough to know what was going on in the world, there has been only one objective for my life: that for the world to live in peace, as one. I never wanted anything else. It has not been easy to live day and night for this purpose of peace, but that is the work that makes me most happy."

Because of the effects of torture, he did not have full use of his body, but his voice resonated with strength."
