On June 13th, WFWP Albania held an event titled "Afternoon of Poetry" at the Tirana community center. The meeting focused on sharing inspiration through poetry recited by our guests. In fact, many of them are poets and writers.

The first performance featured a poem by Mrs. Meri Mezini, professionally recorded and presented in the form of a video clip, conveying a woman's strife for dignity and value of motherhood. Others dealt with the topic of nature and love.

Additionally, our young guest and Peace Academy graduate, Ms. Megi Dukeli, recited a fragment from the work by a famous Albanian poet Gjergj Fishta, focused on the strength of Albanian women.

The event was moderated by Mrs. Marjeta Rroshi, WFWP Albania Vice President who read an excerpt from our Founder's bibliography, in which Mother Moon poetically describes nature and her relationship with the Creator.

Additionally, announcements were made about recent and upcoming WFWP activities and Mrs. Drita Rexhepi, WFWP Board member, presented a short lecture on the Five Principles of Peace, as preparation for Ambassador for Peace nominations.

Altogether seven individuals were appointed as new Peace Ambassadors. The audience was varied; our eldest guest and appointee was 81, Mrs. Violeta Mita, who has a very contagious spirit of positivity and love for art.

The others were new Ambassadors for Peace: Mrs. Rozeta Koci and Asja Mulgesi, both poets, Mrs. Nurije Baduni and Mrs. Vera Tarifa, both retired teachers, Mr. Selfo Tarifa, a retired engineer, and Mrs. Flora Agolli, an accountant and an activist of the Veterans' Association.

Mrs. Agolli, who was the last appointee, unexpectedly shared about her excitement and inspiration after having read a part of Mother Moon's autobiography, which she received through someone. "Today, I will go home and finish the entire book," she shared.

It was exceptional that we had quite a few men in the audience, and they were ready to sign the WFWP membership form.

The meeting concluded with a musical performance by Ms. Luiza Ruci and refreshments.
