

WFWP UK: Young Women's Speech Contest in Central London

Mitty Tohma
June 2026

July was a memorable month for WFWP Central London, with the Young Women's Speech Contest as our main activity. We welcomed seven inspiring young women, who each delivered thoughtful and heartfelt speeches on the theme of feminine leadership. Their unique perspectives, personal experiences, and passion for creating positive change made the event both meaningful and uplifting. It was encouraging to see the confidence and courage each contestant showed as they shared their ideas with the audience.

The contest provided a supportive environment where participants could develop their public speaking and leadership skills while inspiring one another through open dialogue and mutual respect. We are deeply grateful to our judges, volunteers, members, and supporters, whose dedication helped make the event a success.

Following the contest, we celebrated the achievements of all seven contestants and continued engaging with participants, encouraging them to stay connected with WFWP Central London and take part in future activities. The event was a wonderful reminder of the potential of young women to lead with compassion, integrity, and a vision for building more peaceful communities.
