

UPF/WFPW Ghana hold a joint conference on the family values in Accra

Marthe Whyte
July 4, 2015

By UPF/WFPW Ghana: On the 4th of July 2015, these two sister-organizations held a conference on the family values in Accra at the School of performing Art at the University of Ghana, Legon. The main speaker, in the person of Mrs. Marthe Whyte, the national president of WFPW in Ghana spoke on the topic, “The Family as a School of Love And Peace.”

The guests were made up of Ambassadors for Peace living in Accra as well as other important personalities. The program was held in support to the annual visits of Japanese members of WFPW in Ghana.

During the event an Ambassadors for Peace award was presented to Mrs. Sumiko Lazzoni , a professor at the conservatoire of Milano in Italy. The presentation was made by Rev. Anthony Arthur, president of FFWPU- Ghana. The same lady entertained the audience with excellent piano recital.

