

June Darby honoured at ceremony sponsored by the Women of Praise Award

Pascal Murphy
September 15, 2018

June Darby has been honoured at ceremony sponsored by the Women of Praise Award organisation for Women of Praise for 2018.

There were about 10 awards made, They call June, "Ma June"

Queen Esther George is standing next to June Darby with dark glasses on.

She is called. Queen Esther because she is Queen of a tribe in Nigeria. A tribal chieftain position that she inherited.

She studied music at university in Nigeria and is a Gospel singer. She sang at the Award event and has a beautiful voice, and is asked to sing at many different events. She supports ABC and had attended many of our events, also has sung many times.

I helped them to apply for residence visa when it was turned down first. I wrote letters to the Home Office, contacted their lawyer and encouraged them to keep faith over 2 year period, until their visa was granted. She also said I was dedicated to doing God's work

The other lady in the photo is Rev. Dr. Bunmi Roach who wanted to work with us. Her calling is to help teenagers in gangs and those with learning problems.

There were about 10 of us nominated, mostly Pastors and some Community workers. .

So it was a signal honour to be included in such an event. Some were nominated by their family and others by colleagues to show their appreciation for the person nominated.