

WFP Kenya: Green Solar Energy for the African Villages Project Progress

Mwalagho Kililo
March 19, 2022

The Green Solar Energy for the African Villages is a project which started in Kenya in 2020 and continued in 2021 with the support of WFWPI and Giving for Good International.

The goal is to create an environment for witnessing by solving the problems they are facing in their villages and at the same time teaching them True family values and new skills of empowerment in their families.

This year of 2022 the project was held in Kitui County in Kenya with a goal of Lighting up the villages where many families cannot afford electricity or in most cases there is no connection. So this leaves many families in darkness after sunset and many families result to using kerosene lamps or firewood light which is harmful to their health.

The program on the 19th March 2022 consisted of True Family value lecture to the Light of Ngieni Women Group, after which they were trained on how to make liquid hand washing soap. They also received the solar lamps for each homestead which were later installed in their homes to the delight of all the family members.

All women who attended the program registered as peace Associates of WFPW through the Mother`s Heart Peace Network Initiative.

The next day the team visited homes as a program for family outreach to create an environment for witnessing and also networking.

The green solar lamps are safe to use and many families who have benefited from this project have expressed gratitude as mothers are now able to milk their cows late evening or early morning using those lamps, cook their food in a well lighted environment in the evenings and school going children can now do their homework comfortably in the evenings which was a challenge before.

The families are grateful to the Founder of WFWPI the Mother of Peace for this social impact projects which have changed lives of so many families in the African Villages. They refer to the Mother of Peace as also the Mother of Light for bringing not only peace in their families but also light which eradicates all the darkness.

