

History Has To Repeat Until True Parents Are Recognized

I think when Church Leaders as well intentioned as they may be talk of the former Korean President who attempted to do a military coup with no criticism what so ever I think it's a mistake. To present like this in front of Korea and the World is to me strange.

It was right that the current President risked his life to protect Democracy. We should be clear. The protection of Democracy should be something we all support. It should not be political. If we gave this genuine praise to the current President it may in fact help True Mother. What is the problem with telling the truth? God created Democracy.

God is in fact behind a pluralistic Democracy where people are free to choose. God does not support people who would become Dictators. I see our members still demonstrating freely in Korea. I see even supporters of the former President who would have had the current President shot demonstrating freely.

Let us not constantly think it is more important to persecute our bogeyman than tell the truth of Divine Principle.

Divine Principle explains clearly the circumstances leading up to the first time True Father (representative of True Parents) could have become recognised by the world in the time window 1945-1948 after the defeat of Fascism all explained in Divine Principle.

This history has to repeat until True Parents are recognised by the World. We have to know how it is repeating. Know the providential sides clearly. The forces of Democracy must prevail and they should be the clouds on which True Parents are ushered in.
