Since the Korus Connect organisation clicked through to the zoom event, Candace and Jacinta Darbishire went to Korus Connect and talked to the receptionist. She said she will pass on information to the director, who is away for a couple of months. They gave her some printed off some posters and their business cards. She was very interested in the Values Education summit which was to be held by UPF this coming Saturday. This organisation seems very providential as it aims to support Christian communities.
