Mutual Prosperity – Rethinking our Economic Models:

18th March

An important online summit was held in Australia to address the best way to achieve mutual prosperity, which is one of the great moral and economic challenges of our time. Current economic models have not always produced the best outcomes with respect to producing wealth and addressing poverty and environmental sustainability. 40 participants in the areas of education, academia and community work took part of the important summit. There was strong consensus that this conversation needs to continue. The summit was organised by UPF Australia, the International Association of Academicians for Peace (Oceania) and The International Association for Peace and Economic Development (North America). Our strategic partner was Women's Federation for World Peace Australia. The supporting organisations included The Center for Global Nonkilling, The Australia Arab Chamber of Commerce & Industry, The Global Opportunities Commercialisation, The Global Somali Diaspora and The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation (UNESCO) - Asia Pacific Network for International Education and Values Education.

Working Bee:

After the cutting of the trees last month we were left with a lot of branches around the property. Since we were not allowed to burn off James Babb organised a woodchipper and truck to be brought in and a working Bee was called. During the morning all the wood was chipped and piled up at the back of the property. In the afternoon other jobs were done, including the clearing of the gutters and roofs. Thank you Mr Arai for providing us with lunch.
