Did you miss me a lot? I just came from participating in the twenty-fourth International Conference on the Unity of the Sciences. For twenty-two years, ICUS led with the theme of Absolute Values. Last year, after seventeen years, we revived ICUS.

Until now, all people have striven to live good lives in accordance with their original natures, yet the environment could not keep up with them, and because they did not stand at the center, their selfishness and their individual greed took the forefront and that phenomenon made today as it is.

Especially when we look at the history of human civilization, it is true that scientific developments have provided us, in the present, with a bountiful and comfortable life. Yet, what I am saying here today is that all humankind, especially scientists must know God. We must know the essence of God, the Creator, who is the owner of the universe, and we must know what his dream was. That humankind has emerged incorrectly until now is the truth.

Heaven gave us poison. There are poisonous snakes and there are plants with poison. Yet Heaven also gave us substances that can counteract the poison. What this means is that God's principles of creation, from when he created the universe, can be perpetuated eternally. It can exist forever! The world of all created things, which did not fall, has good circulation according to the principles of creation. However, it is true that in this beautiful world, nature, is being destroyed through human ignorance. When I saw the news, it said that the concentration of fine dust is serious today. Fine dust! Especially Korea, due to the yellow dust and the fine dust that comes to Korea, has a higher concentration. It is not enough for just one country to do well. To move in a direction to overcome these problems cooperation is needed.

We must face problems

Therefore, not long ago, I warned China in this way. "You are spending a great amount of money on the military. With that money your nation could turn the Gobi desert into beautiful land, even if you only invest a third of it, that is possible." That was what I said. They only need to make effort but they do not think of the future. The phenomenon of only looking right in front of themselves is occurring in all governments of all nations and is because of the greed to put their own nation's benefit first. Thus, because I know God, I told the scientists, "I am the mother of the universe! Therefore, I cannot tolerate these phenomena. I told them no matter what I have to make this right. I am saying that in order to do this I hope for all of your cooperation." Did I do well?

Also, I spoke to scientists in our second-generation. I saw that they have grown beautifully. They give hope for our future. I ask that you dream expansively, so that the world God originally created, a healthy planet with a bright future for humankind, a world of freedom, equality, peace, and happiness, and a world of one human family centered on God, can begin. I ask that you grow beautifully and healthily so that through your studies and your efforts you will develop more brilliant ideas and become more brilliant than those scientists. Through your pure selves, become people who can give hope to this world today.
