Our world's problems may seem too great and too complex to solve - endemic violence, climate change, affordable housing, food insecurity, wealth and income disparity, and so on. However, if the past is prologue, resolution of these daunting challenges will be found. The path towards solutions lies in creative partnerships that break through traditional biases and bring together activists and leaders across perspectives and disciplines. Our topic explores broadening wealth creation and economic development through the collaboration of public, private, and philanthropic/social sectors.

This webinar will look at the potential for bringing together the private, public and social sectors in order to produce transformative results in areas of under and unequal development.

Sponsored by the International Association for Peace and Economic Development of Universal Peace Federation
