Making Families Fun Decoding Parenting

Parenting - It's the job we all want to be great at because we know it's such a big deal, yet in our modern, busy world it can sometimes be so challenging.

Nicola Bailey will coordinate six parenting workshops to help understand behaviours, defuse situations and to make space for family fun.

Nicola has worked with her surrounding communities for over 30 years, as a nurse and teacher. Her area of specialism is working with parents and families, engaging them and offering parent / family support which also included founding a charity which she ran for 8 years. She has recently completed a PhD focused on parental engagement and support and she currently runs parent / family support workshops.
