Our world's problems may seem too great and too complex to solve—zoonotic violence, climate change, affordable housing, food insecurity, wealth and income disparity, and so on. However, if the past is prologue, resolution of these daunting challenges will be found. The path towards solutions lies in creative partnerships that break through traditional biases and bring together activists and leaders across perspectives and disciplines. Our topic explores broadening wealth creation and economic development through the collaboration of public, private, and philanthropic/social sectors.

This webinar will look at the potential for bringing together the private, public and social sectors in order to produce transformative results in areas of under and unequal development.

Sponsored by the International Association for Peace and Economic Development of Universal Peace Federation

SOCIAL VALUE INVESTING IN THE HORN OF AFRICA

Mutual Prosperity, Interdependence and Universally Shared Values

Tuesday, April 18, 2023 from 2 to 3 PM

Our world's problems may seem too great and complex to solve. The Horn of Africa, in particular, has suffered and struggled over the years with wars, tribal conflicts, famine, corruption, and poverty. The path toward solutions may lie in creative partnerships that break through traditional biases and bring together activists and leaders across perspectives and disciplines. Join Mr. Magdi Amin, founder of the African Renaissance Partners, Horn of Africa Fund, and Professor William Eimicke, of Columbia University, a pioneer in the measurement of social values as an investment paradigm, in a discussion of practical ways to bring together private investment, local entrepreneurs, and government support to improve the lives of people in this part of the world.
