On the 50th anniversary of the end of World War II, over 20,000 Japanese women came to the United States to cross a symbolic bridge with an American sister in order to heal the gap which still existed between former enemy nations. Tears were shed, with laughter and smiles, as each side made a commitment to heal the pain of the past. Since then, the Bridge of Peace has been conducted in Ireland, in Israel, and in American cities. It has even been used to reconcile couples who have considered divorce and want to renew their marriage vows.

Don't let another moment pass by... the Bridge of Peace, real hope for peace, should be made available to the world family!
