

Trip to Japan and Television Opportunity for a Japanese/British couple

Matthew Huish
December 4, 2017

A television broadcast company is looking for a Japanese/British couple who would like to meet their partner's parents in Japan for the first time. A production company is working on a pilot version of a brand new show, which a interracial couple (this time British/Japanese) from all over the world, to visit Japan, to meet first time to the parents of their long-term partner.

Contact Paul at japanese-34-announce@meetup.com

Are you in long-term relationship with a Japanese person?

Are you hoping to get married to your partner in near future, but, not yet met your partner's parents in Japan?

Don't mind your "first encounter" with your hopefully-future-in-law be televised? The producer will provide/pay:

- 1) Return flight to Japan in economy class for the couple
- 2) Accommodation cost during the couple's stay
- 3) Contribution fees for the couple

I though some of our members might be interested. TV Asahi are looking for a part Japanese part non-Japanese couple as per below. Please let me know if you are interested

Trip to Japan and Television Opportunity for couples

